

FOOD QUALITY AND FOOD SAFETY POLICY

The company METRON SA recognizing the developments of its industry, the needs of its customers and the legal requirements that govern its operation and field of activity, it effectively implements an integrated Quality Management System and Food Safety according to the standards of ISO9001: 2015 and ISO22000: 2018.

The Top Management of the company is committed first of all to apply and constantly communicate the following basic principles of Food Quality and Food Safety Policy:

- Commitment satisfy applicable legislative and regulatory food safety requirements and simultaneously the mutually agreed customer requirements related to the provision of quality and food safe products
- Research and implementation of technologically advanced practices that comply with relevant European and national legislation and regulations of the product produced
- Effective communication and information of any stakeholders (eg. employees, suppliers, subcontractors, customers) that may affect the quality and safety of the product produced
- Making a continuous effort to eliminate potential risks for customers and subsequent users of the company's products / services
- Implementation of actions aimed at the continuous operation and improvement of the efficiency of the integrated Quality Management System and Food Safety

The above binding principles are satisfied by the Top Management through its decisions for:

- Establish measurable targets for monitoring the effectiveness of the processes of the Integrated Management System and consequently the development of the company
- Approval of the provision of any form of resources that will contribute to the continuous improvement of the Integrated Management System

The Food Quality and Food Safety Policy of METRON SA is reviewed by the Top Management at regular intervals, exactly as required by the standards applied by the company. It is communicated to all its employees during their training, but it is also available to any other interested party which participates continuously in its efforts such as its customers, suppliers and partners.

Yours sincerely,
Athanasios Georgiadis
General Director